HOW TO:

- 1 | BASE a coat of primer and let dry. Apply a heavy coat of untinted Soapstone using a trowel or a flat blade spatula. Immediately make grooves into the Soapstone with a V-notched scoring tool. Allow drying time of at least 8 hours (Photos 1-3).
- 2 | ROLL or brush on a coat of Pre-Mixed Metallic Paint Just Brass. Upon drying, apply the size with a brush ensuring you get the product into the grooves. You're looking for 100% coverage. Follow the manufacturer's directions for the proper tack time to setup (Photo 4).

3 | START cutting up the Shaibin leaves in organic shapes and apply on to the size that has had a chance to set up. Distribute the tamisé flakes in between the three different kinds of Schaibin (Photo 5).

4 | AFTER you are happy with the placement of the Schaibin, rub off the excess leaf with a soft cloth. The resulting skewings will cover any skips or “holidays” that you may have missed while laying down the leaf (Photo 6).

*OPTIONAL: The resulting finish can be sealed immediately using a premium brand oil-based polyurethane sealer in a clear gloss finish (Photo 7). If you choose not to use the sealer, this finish acquires a lovely natural patina but should not be exposed to water.*
